WHEN a punch-drunk prize-fighter faced a Little Rock jury the other day for running down and killing a man and woman with his automobile the jury turned him loose. Testimony showed that the ex-prize-fighter was "out of synchronization" and no longer had normal control over nerves and muscles such as is necessary to drive an automobile safely.

Dr. A. C. Kolb Will Be Superintendent of State Hospital

Hope Physician Resigns Board Membership for Active Post

Leaves Josephine Hospital Staff for Position With State

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Governor Futrell Wednesday reappointed four members of the old State Hospital Board to serve as members of the reorganized board.

He reappointed Floyd Fulkerson, W. M. Henry, John L. Peter and Joe K. Mahoney.

Kolb is Superintendent

LITTLE ROCK—Dr. A. C. Kolb of Hope, member of the State Hospital Board, was elected superintendent of the institution at a meeting of the board Tuesday, at which arrangements were made to comply with provisions of the 1935 legislative program.

Dr. Kolb, who assumed charge immediately, announced that Dr. Charles Arkbauer, chief of the hospital's medical staff for several years, will be retained in that capacity.

J. Clifton Markham, accountant in the office of Comptroller Griffin Smith for the past two and a half years, will succeed John H. Parker as business manager. Mr. Parker, former sheriff of Ouachita county and one-time mayor of Fort Smith, is retiring after two years' service.

Floyd H. Fulkerson, member of the board, said the new superintendent and business manager were selected by the board after an exhaustive search. He said Dr. Kolb and Mr. Markham were not applicants.

The new superintendent announced he hoped to install a meat system for employees and remove the institution from politics as far as possible.

No employee will be removed except for cause, he said. "As superintendent, in co-operation with the board, I shall strive to do everything to render the greatest service to patients at the lowest cost that is consistent with the welfare of the patients."

Resigns From Board

Dr. Kolb resigned as a member of the board and his place has not been filled by Governor Futrell. William H. McGhee, appointed to succeed Herkules Highfill, racing commission chairman, was sworn in Tuesday as a member of the board. Other members attending were John L. Peters, Hot Springs, and Mr. Fulkerson, Joe Mahoney, El Dorado attorney and chairman of the board, was in Washington on business.

Dr. Kolb said he planned to use several thousand dollars added to the maintenance fund by the last legislature to equip an X-ray room and laboratory at the institution and to establish a library. He said the money would not be available until July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

Four doctors will be added to the medical staff at that time, making a

Graves' Salary Is Fixed by Council at $150 a Month

Generator Purchase Recommended by Board of Public Affairs

NO POLICE NAMED

Mayor Graves and New Official Family Inaugurated by City

A few minutes before Albert Graves, new mayor, took office Tuesday night the retiring Hope city council voted five-to-two to fix his salary at $150 a month.

The existing ordinance had fixed the mayor's salary at $100 a month, but a chancery court decision ruled this illegal, holding that R. A. (Ruff) Boyett, retiring mayor, was entitled to $150 a month—the amount fixed by the immediately preceding ordinance.

Mayor Boyett drew $150 a month from the city from the date of the chancery decision.

The ordinance giving Mr. Graves $150 a month was introduced Tuesday by Alderman L. A. Keith, of the ordinance committee.

The council divided on the issue, five voting for the $150 amount: R. L. Gosnell, W. A. Lewis, Charles Taylor, L. A. Keith and Dr. F. D. Henry.

Opposing were: Roy Anderson and L. N. Garner—with Dr. P. B. Carrigan absent.

No Police Announcement

Mayor Graves made no announcement regarding police appointments.

The Board of Public Affairs brought in a recommendation for the purchase of a new generator for the municipally-owned water and light plant at a cost of approximately $40,000.

The question of the generator's purchase had been debated before various members of the council for the past three years. The improvement project was revived two weeks ago by R. L. Gosnell, chairman of the water and light committee.

At that time Alderman Gosnell requested that the Board of Public Affairs, composed of the mayor, C. C. Spragins and Lloyd Spencer, make a survey of the plant to ascertain whether conditions warrant a new generator.

The board Tuesday night approved the proposed project. C. C. Spragins, in a verbal statement to the council, recommended that both the old and new council be given an opportunity to pass on the measure.

An ordinance for the purchase of the generator was read before the council, but no further action was taken.

T. R. Billingsley, city clerk, administered the oath of office to new officials. They are:

New Official Family

Albert Graves, mayor, succeeding R. A. Boyett.

L. Carter Johnson, Alderman Ward One, succeeding R. L. Gosnell.

Kenneth G. Hamilton, Alderman Ward Two, succeeding L. N. Garner.

Roy Johnson, Alderman Ward Three, succeeding W. A. Lewis.

Charles Taylor, Alderman Ward Four, succeeding himself.

Charles Reymerson, city treasurer, succeeding himself.

Mayor Graves appointed the following to the various committees:

Water and Light—L. Carter Johnson, chairman; Roy Anderson and L. A. Keith.

Finance—Roy Anderson, chairman; L. Carter Johnson and Kenneth G. Hamilton.

Police and Market—L. A. Keith, chairman; Dr. F. D. Henry and Kenneth G. Hamilton.

Resolution to Boyett

Before the council recessed until Thursday night when other appointments were announced, a resolution was adopted expressing thanks and appreciation to R. A. Boyett, retiring mayor, for his work as chief executive of the city.

Utilities Attack AAA

WASHINGTON—(AP)—With its life threatened by attacks from several quarters the AAA struck back Tuesday with a charge that its opposition was directed against the entire New Deal.

Chester C. Davis, farm administrator, told newspapermen that public utilities and other business organizations were lending their support to a drive by processors and distributors of farm commodities, and that attacks on the cotton processing tax were being used as a spearhead.

"They are aiding in the fight and accepting a credit memorandum for assistance rendered," he said in referring to public utilities.

Other AAA officials agreed. They said that in protecting the AAA they were defending an outpost and that other phases of the Roosevelt program would be attacked subsequently if the drive on the AAA succeeded.

Tenant Aid Favored

Meanwhile legislation designed to help turn America's tenant farmer class into self-sustaining landowners through a $1,000,000,000 government financing agency was approved in principle by Secretary Wallace.

Testifying before the house agriculture committee on the bill by Chairman Jones, he cautioned, however, that great care should be exercised to insure adequate supervision by persons experienced in running their own farms during a considerable portion of the long-time purchasing period.

"I think the objectives of the bill are absolutely sound," the secretary said. "So I am all the more anxious that it not be possible for some future congress to come along and say this was launched without sufficient provision for supervision."

Ralph Fuels Surrenders to Denton Officers Without Firing a Shot

DENTON, Texas—(AP)—Ralph Fuels, recent running mate of Raymond Hamilton, was captured near here Wednesday by three Denton officers who chased him to the end of a blind country lane.

Fuels surrendered without firing a shot, although he was carrying a pistol.

The arresting officers said the youthful fugitive admitted his identity.

The officers were driving back to the city after an unsuccessful search of Fuels' hideout near Lake Dallas, when they encountered Fuels driving along the highway.

Return Stolen Car to Tulsa Company

Prisoners Not Connected as Yet With H. W. Stanley Robbery

A representative of the Seismograph Service corporation of Tulsa, Okla., arrived in Hope Wednesday and claimed the automobile found in possession of two young men arrested here Monday.

The car, a Ford V-8 bearing Kansas license, was reported stolen in Oklahoma a few days ago.

In the meantime Hope police awaited fingerprints from Dallas in an effort to link the pair with a highway robbery Sunday night on the Hot Springs-Arkadelphia road.

Henry W. Stanley, president of the Broadway of America Highway association, was the victim of a holdup while enroute from Nashville, Tenn. to Dallas, Texas.

Fingerprints left on his car by the bandit pair are being forwarded here from Dallas. They had not arrived at noon Wednesday.

Hope police also are awaiting the arrival of an agent of the U. S. Department of Justice, due here some time Wednesday to take charge of the prisoners.

Big Pan American Ship Sets Record in 17-Hour Flight

First of Pacific Air Explorers Negotiates 2,400-Mile Stretch

Flying Liner Docks at Pearl Harbor Naval Base on Way to China

HONOLULU, Hawaii—(AP)—The pioneer big Clipper plane alighted in Pearl Harbor at 12:57 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after its 2,400-mile flight from Alameda, Calif.

The Clipper made the trip in 17 hours 47 minutes for a new flight record over that distance.

By SHERMAN MONTROSE

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO—When the dolphin-like nose of the Pan American Clipper cleared the Golden Gate and soared out over the Pacific to the Orient, the most highly trained over-water flying technicians known to aeronautics were at the controls.

Trained for nearly two years in the laboratory of the Caribbean and on the Pacific coast, pilots of the huge flying boat are masters of flying by radio beacon, dead reckoning, celestial navigation, and "blind flying."

Immediately behind the first flight is more than 10,000 miles of test flights, half of which has been over water and under every conceivable weather condition.

The Atlantic ocean, between Miami and Puerto Rico, over 1200 miles of water, was the proving ground for the giant Clipper and its crew. Carefully the company led the pilots through long distance flights to non-stop operations between these two points.

Tests Near Perfection

Guided alternately by dead reckoning and celestial navigation, pilots held the ship on its course through tropic nights while powerful radio-direction finders kept a check on the pilot's navigation.

In tests the variation between celestial navigation and radio bearings showed a differential of less than 1 percent.

To prevent sighting of any familiar landmark or ship on a known course during daylight hours, one-half of the large cockpit was hooded so that the pilot's vision extended only to his instrument board.

A new type drift-sight, newly devised oceanic and sextants for celestial navigation were checked throughout test flights. In addition, a new system for lubricating engine parts formerly lubricated by hand on the ground was given thorough tryouts.

From these training flights, and others that carried the Clipper on its full non-stop range of 3000 miles, came the crews that will guide the giant ships across the airlines between the United States and the Orient.

Experts in Their Lines

The crew of the Pan American Clipper, first ship to make test flights across the Pacific, is typical of the full complement of 17 Pan American crews. They are:

Capt. Edwin C. Musick, 42, America's first intercontinental air pilot, one of the small group of veteran American pilots who have more than 10,000 flying hours to their credit. In 22 years in aviation, Musick has flown more than a million miles. No injury has ever been caused to a passenger in one of his planes.

Second in command is First Officer R. O. D. Sullivan. He has a total of 7,600 hours flying time. Sullivan's duties are assisting Captain Musick at the controls, in short, generally taking over the duties of a first officer on a ship at sea.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

More Danger in Foods Canned at Home

You should be more careful of the foods you can at home, than of those you buy canned in factories. For health authorities have discovered that the greatest danger of botulism arises from home-canned products.

Since 1925, there has been no outbreak of botulism that could be traced to foods canned in factories. But in the same period there has been a considerable amount of poisoning from home-canned food.

The two chief difficulties in canning are those concerned with spoilage and food poisoning. You might think that spoilage was primarily of economic importance and botulism of public health significance, but in any pack of non-acid home-canned foods in which there is an undue amount of spoilage, the potential danger of botulism exists, because spoilage is associated with understerilization.

Danger of botulism from factory-canned foods has been almost wholly eliminated, due to extensive investigations which have established facts about heat and other factors involved in canning.

From 1929 to 1933 there was a considerable number of outbreaks of botulism, numbering from five to ten each year, and in every instance except two the food was home canned. In these two instances the food was an imported product.

The canned foods included persimmons, string beans, beets, celery, sausage, chili con carne, and other vegetables.

Total number of deaths involved in these outbreaks was more than 100 and all naturally were preventable deaths.

A recent survey into the causes of such accidents revealed that bad advice was being given and that improperly processed home-canned foods were hazardous.

Non-acid foods must be canned under steam pressure. However, mere use of pressure alone is not sufficient. It must be used correctly and the canner, whether at home or in the factory, must follow the instructions.

In the survey it was found that the advice given in many of the home canning books was unsatisfactory and unsafe. The government issues a bulletin known as Farmers' Bulletin 1471 which provides safe instructions to the home canner.

Non-acid foods, particularly vegetables, simply cannot be processed in hot water bath or even with assurance of the avoidance of spoilage and the possibility of food poisoning. The water boiling process is not as satisfactory as the steam pressure process.

Unfortunately, canning contests at state and county fairs award credit for color and appearance without reference to the sterility and safety of the food that is packed.

Because a high temperature may modify the color or texture of the fruits, the home-canner takes a chance on sterility.

One of the oldest books to come across this desk in a long time is "Strange Cults and Secret Societies of Modern London," by Elliott O'Donnell.

Here we have a fair sample of the sort of thing that can be put together by a man who is both inquisitive and credulous. If you go to enough places and listen hard enough, you can hear some horrendous tales in any big city; and if you believe everything you hear and join all these tales together, you can peddle quite a shocker.

Mr. O'Donnell asserts that London is full of queer people who delight in doing very queer things.

There is, for instance, the ancient oriental cult of Thugs. They go about strangling people, for no very apparent reason. The police are utterly unable to get at them.

There are the Panther People, who dress up in panther skins and leap on innocent wayfarers with teeth and claws. They, too, manage to fool the police consistently.

Then there is a Suicide Club, which sounds as if someone had been reading Stevenson. There are ghost circles and practitioners of black magic. There is a Hell-Fire Club, which goes in for mumbo-jumbo in a manner both elaborate and pointless.

All in all, Mr. O'Donnell makes London sound like quite a town. If you wonder what happens to all the victims of some of these murderous outfits, he explains that "hundreds of people disappear annually without trace."

Published by Dutton, this book sells for $2.50.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Children Should Help With Spring Cleaning.

Ladders and broomsticks and pails, paint and paper and nails. Housecleaning time.

Plovers and harrows and rakes, hoes and trowels and stakes. Gardening time.

Scissors and sewing machines, dresses and jackets and jeans. Sewing time.

All dear mother, just when spring fever is at its best and you want to be out expressing yourself in lyrical rhapsody over cloudlets and birdlets and streamlets and just "lets."

Once upon a time there lived a lady nearby whom I regarded as crazy.

Strange how we learn so much from crazy people. Look back, if you are not too young to look back, and see how many times you have revamped your opinion on some nut or other (or even thought at the time) whose policies you have later discovered to be workable and wise.

Breakdown Usually Followed

I was the kind who shoved out the kids at housecleaning time. I could do it better alone—or with the help of one who could wield a mean broom.

When it was over, I seldom missed a breakdown. Yes, the fur flew when we cleaned. I could clean wall-paper better than anyone I knew, without streaks. I could and did put three layers of paint on soft floors and even stippled them. When I could afford it, I got a painter. But I stood over him to tell him how it should be done.

Well—this nutty neighbor of mine clamped down on her children when April came along and one could see them after school and on Saturdays, heads tied up and clutching scrubbing brushes instead of base-balls and bicycle handle bars.

They were made to help, and help they did. The porch rails and posts were one boy's job. Beating rugs the older one's job. The daughter helped to clean closets, was wood-work and sundries.

At seeing time all of them not only washed dishes but cooked, too.

It was a swell idea, and I see now how sensible at was. My children helped usually, but when I ran into an emergency (I always think of April as an emergency) that was the time I sent them about their business. Only I could put through that mountain of work, and I had to do it undisturbed. I had to worship at my shrine alone.

Children Are Good Helpers

How silly! Actually children are better workers than we think. And once in the spirit of anything they enjoy it. Just a few things to be careful of, of course—that is such risks as heavy lifting, and colds from open windows on chilly days.

Everybody likes gardening, or should. As for painting, give work where you possibly can to those who need it. Otherwise, if you can't, youngsters can do wonders with a brush and the easy paint used nowadays.

As for the sewing, you'll have to do that yourself very likely. There is a limit to playing tyrant. But think what it used to be, and thank your stars it is so. There are those of us who could tell a tale about the sewing room, but that is just now.

Babe Ruth Opens With a Home Run

Dizzy Dean Hurt as Cubs Defeat Cards in First Game

BOSTON, Mass.—(AP)—With all the characteristic flamboyance of the great man in a crisis, George Herman (Babe) Ruth, the ancient they waived out of the American League, started life all over again at 40 in the National League Tuesday.

He personally touched off the season for his new mates, the Braves, by slugging one of his ancient enemies, left handed Carl Hubbell, for a tremendous home run in the fifth inning of the season's opened with the New York Giants, driving in or scoring all four of his team's runs, making one of the season's opening home runs, five governors, and a host of celebrities out of all thoughts of the bitter cold weather.

The Braves beat the Giants 4 to 2 as far as the ball game as a whole was concerned, but beyond that everything was Ruth.

Back again after 15 years with the Yankees to the city where he started his career as a lanky, turkey-necked rookie from Baltimore in 1914, the Babe rose to the occasion as he has so many times in the past when the spotlight was upon him, the bands blaring, his people cheering him on.

Dizzy Dean Hurt.

CHICAGO—(AP)—A 4-to-3 defeat and near-tragedy to the great Dizzy Dean who holds their pennant hopes in his right hand, rode with the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday as they opened their 1935 flag drive against the Chicago Cubs before 15,500 shivering customers at Wrigley Field.

A hot drive off the bat of Freddie Linstrom in the first inning, a smash that caught the Cardinal pitching star above the left ankle, laid him low and he was carried off the field by his coaches.

For a time, it seemed certain that his leg had been fractured, but an x-ray picture of a nearby hospital failed to reveal a break, and it was the opinion of his attending physician and trainer that of Dizz will be back on the firing line within a week.

Dean, whose great pitching arm won 30 games, the National League pennant and the world series for the Cardinals last year, was in a jam when he was struck, Augie Galan, who started the Cubs attack with a single and then raced to third on a sacrifice by Billy Herman and a wild throw by Pepper Martin was poised for a dash home as Lindstrom swung at Dizzy's sweeping curves. Suddenly, he caught one of the slants and it went straight at Dizzy. The ball crashed against the left ankle, crumpled toward the first base line with Dizzy after it. As he reached the ball, he suddenly toppled over.

Mike Gonzales and Clyde Wages carried him off the field after Dizzy, his face twitching with pain, tried hard to stand on his leg.

Galan dashed in with the run which was the winning margin.

"I'm sorry I fell down," said Dizzy as he twisted with pain in the Card dressing room. "How we doing?"

Informed there was no fracture, Dizzy left the hospital without looking at the x-ray plates, promising his mates he would be back soon.

GENEVA, Switzerland — France, Britain and Italy Tuesday asked the League of Nations to censure Adolf Hitler for rearming Germany in violation of treaties, and punish nations which repudiate treaties in the future.

A resolution the three powers introduced jointly at Tuesday's session of the League Council asserted Germany had failed "in the duty which lies upon all members of the international community to respect the undertakings they have contracted."

France declared flatly "the German initiative of March 16 (Hitler's renewal of compulsory military service) must be condemned."

A German government spokesman said at Berlin, "You may be certain if this goes through the League of Nations, Germany never will rejoin it." The resolution did not condemn Germany directly, France and the co-sponsors of the resolution contenting themselves with assailing all treaty violations. German circles here, however, were quick to declare the resolution too strong.

Summary of Action

It proposed that the council:

1. Declare "Germany has failed in the duty which lies upon all members of the international community to respect undertakings which they have contracted, and condemn 'any unilateral repudiation of international obligations'."

2. Invite "the governments which took the initiative in the plan of February 3 or which gave approval to it to continue the negotiations so initiated, and in particular, to promote the conclusion within the framework of the League of Nations of agreements which appear necessary to attain the objects defined by this plan."

3. "Request the committee of the League Council to call into play all the appropriate measures on its part of the members of the league" to prevent unilateral repudiation of treaties, and "request the committee to propose for this purpose measures to render the covenant more effective in the organization of collective security, and to define the particular economic and financial measures which might be applied, should any state in the future, 'endanger peace by unilateral repudiation of its international obligations.'" total of 12 on the staff. He said the additional physicians are needed, pointing out that the present staff of eight has not been increased since the hospital had 1,800 patients, the normal capacity of the present buildings, which now house approximately 3,700.

Of that total, 1,600 can be transferred to the new hospital near Benton when the buildings are completed, but even then Dr. Kolb pointed out both institutions will have a full quota of patients. He said plans are being made to increase food production at the new hospital, and at the farm at Baucum in Pulaski county to supply a greater part of the hospital's needs.

"Are there other contracts in Louisiana that might be cancelled?" he was asked.

"Buchanan wrote it on a piece of paper and handed it to Sergeant Mahoney. I have the paper here in the drawer."

She opened the drawer and handed him the folded piece of paper. He unfolded it and stared thoughtfully at it for a few moments.

"Do you know what time it was when you got back?" he asked.

"No. I'm not certain. It wasn't very long before daylight."

"And the books Dad gave you in the suitcase were stolen while you were gone?"

"Yes. You see," she said, "when that typewritten message was slipped under my door I thought you were the one who had written it. You see, we'd been talking about this woman in the black ermine coat, and . . ."

He thrust the folded paper in his pocket.

"Come on," he said. "You and I are going out and hunt clews."

"But what clews are we going to hunt?"

"We're going to find out about that woman in the black ermine coat. We're going to find out about the car of which you have the license number. But first we're going to find out about that whiskey."

"What about it?" she asked.

"Simply this: Harry Felding was at one time a heavy drinker. When he started working as a chauffeur he made up his mind he was going to cut out booze entirely. He never took a drink all the time he was working for Dad. What's more, he never allowed any whiskey in his place."

"If that's the case how did it happen that . . .?"

Millicent's voice ceased as she suddenly became aware of the full import of what she was trying to say.

"Exactly," Norman Happ said. "That whiskey was brought into his place after he left, doubtless by the person who committed the murder. It's an unusual brand. The probabilities are it was purchased somewhere in the neighborhood. We're going to find out who purchased it."

CONSTIPATION RELIEF

While its long record of usefulness runs back to 1840, Theodor's Black-Draught is right up to date. Modern medical opinion holds that the plant leaves which give Black-Draught most of its active principle are among the best laxatives in all the acceptable materials of medicine.

"When constipated, I feel dull and stupid," writes Mr. O. C. Green, of Andrews, N. C. "I have taken Black-Draught several years for constipation and find it gives me immediate relief."

Christ Pictured as Priests' Prisoner

Holt Traces Savior From the Palace of Caiaphas to Pilate

The Rev. Guy D. Holt, pastor of First Christian church, portrayed Jesus as the prisoner of the Jewish priests in his message Tuesday night. The Rev. Mr. Holt told of Jesus being led through the streets of Jerusalem in the early morning hours from the palace of Caiaphas to Pilate. The minister said:

"The painting of this scene in words showed Caiaphas and the other priests accusing Jesus of blasphemy, of being a seditious, a distributor of all Jewry, and of claiming Himself to be a King. It brought out Pilate's admiration of Jesus, and His being questioned by Pilate who asked Him if He were a King as accused by his people who brought Him bound as a prisoner before the tribunal of Rome, and Jesus answering 'Thou sayest that which I am, a King.'"

Mr. Holt pictured an interruption during this questioning by Jesus, by Judas, who had sought out the priests and openly accused Caiaphas of bribing him to betray the Nazarene into their hands—crying out to them that he had betrayed innocent blood—pleading with them to let Jesus go. Then Pilate learned that Jesus was a Galilean, and in so doing, found a loophole through which he hoped to escape the task of judging and condemning this lowly, humble, man to death. So he orders that Jesus be taken to Herod for judgment.

A wonderful picture of the Christ was painted, as He stood boldly yet not presumptuously before Pilate, with His majestic yet kindly head unbowed, but with that everlasting look of compassion and pity and love shining in His eyes through it all, and never denying the charge brought against Him by His very own race of people.

The minister said: "Pilate could find no fault in Jesus, yet he was told by the priest and leading mob that if He allowed Jesus to go free they would accuse him to Caesar as being in league with Jesus and not Caesar's friend."

"Pilate was looking for some way to be rid of this unpleasant task of facing Jesus, and many people in this very city of ours are attempting to do the same thing. Attempting to pass Jesus on to someone else that they may not have to face Him, for they know that if they face Him squarely that they will have to believe on Him and accept Him, which will require their giving up some of the things in life that are wicked and sinful. Jesus stood by you through the trial before Pilate, and will stand by you now if you accept Him."

Mr. Holt closed with these questions: "Are you refusing to face Jesus?" "Are you neglecting to do what you should about accepting Him as your Lord and Savior?" "What are you going to do with Jesus?" Mr. Holt speaks at 7:30 Wednesday night on "Christ Before Herod."

The STORY of EASTER

After the Last Supper, Jesus and His disciples went to the Garden of Gethsemane, near the Mount of Olives. Entering, He bade His disciples wait, taking Peter, James, and John with Him. A little distance away, He asked the three to stay and watch, while He went aside to pray. Three times He prayed agonizedly, beseeching the Father "if it is possible, let this chalice pass from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." Each time He returned to Peter, James, and John, to find them asleep. Awakening them, He said: "Arise, let us go; for he that shall betray Me is at hand." A multitude came into the garden. At their head walked Judas Iscariot, who came to Jesus, said, "Hail, Rabbi," and kissed Him. Jesus asked the throng whom they sought. "Jesus of Nazareth," they replied. "I am He," was the simple answer. The people, overcome with fear, fell to the ground, but the soldiers advanced and seized Him. Peter tried to defend Jesus, but our Lord bade him desist.

The other type of flying boat expected to be placed in the Pacific flight service is the Martin Clipper. This aerial giant is nearly a third larger than the Pan American Clipper, has a maximum capacity of 53, and will carry 20 passengers, more than a ton of mail, and cargo over 3000 miles non-stop.

British India Office Discloses Tragedy on Persian Gulf

LONDON, Ang.—(AP)—Seventy-five persons, mostly women and children, were trampled to death in a panic Sunday night among a crowd of alms seekers on Bahrain Island, in the Persian gulf, the India Office disclosed Tuesday night.

The mob assembled when it became known that a Persian merchant planned to distribute alms to the poor. A clamoring multitude thronged a narrow passageway leading to the inner courtyard of the merchant's home.

In an attempt to control the mob the outer door was closed and locked. In a few moments the public was out from the outside and the mad fight for freedom was over.

When you stop to think about your cigarette—what it means to you—here's about the way you look at it—

Smoking a cigarette gives a lot of pleasure—it always has. People have been smoking and enjoying tobacco in some form or another for over 400 years. Of course you want a cigarette to be made right. And naturally you want it to be mild. Yet you want it to have the right taste—and plenty of it. In other words—you want it to Satisfy.

Scientific methods and ripe mild tobaccos make Chesterfield a milder and better-tasting cigarette. We believe you will enjoy them.
